

I am against media consolidation and wish there to be a limit on how many radio stations can be owned by one company. It is important that people operating outside of the mainstream have a place to be heard.